Lawmakers: Don't Trash Food Recycling Efforts

Reducing the amount of organic waste that is buried in California landfills is an environmental imperative. As state policy mandates, something has to be done to choke back the production of methane, the gas that is generated when table scraps, yard clippings and other organic materials decompose underground.

Methane, classified as a super-pollutant, is 84 times more harmful than carbon dioxide as a global warming gas.

Resource for Industry - CDFA Safe Animal Feed Education (SAFE) Program

The Safe Animal Feed Education \(SAFE\) program of California uses outreach, education, and a comprehensive Voluntary Quality Assurance program to lead the nation in ensuring a safe and wholesome supply of commercial feed. SAFE uses an approach that fosters voluntary compliance with the state laws and regulations to ensure the safe manufacture and use of commercial feed in a changing livestock feed market. This unique collaboration between SAFE and the feed industry benefits both the agricultural community and the consumer.
